

REEDS by DENNIS ABALOS

The Reeds series comprises of a chair and bench made out of steel frames and rattan reeds.

Multiple rattan reeds are slotted through each of the side frames creating the seating platform.

The rattan reeds can come as natural finish or can be stained in a variety of colours.

The steel side frame, and support beam are chromed-finished to give the illusion the reeds are floating, as the chrome reflects its surrounding environment.

Inspired by nature, such as bamboo forests and rattan vines, the Reeds series provides the user texture through the reed rods while in use.

The Reeds series provides nostalgia as the form is also reminiscent of uncooked spaghetti pasta.

The Reeds series requires no glue and only has 2 joints that hold the frame together. It's designed for easy assembly and dis-assembly.
